

Barton College routinely hosts visitors to campus of many sorts--potential students, community members, contractors completing work on campus, etc.

Campus visitors are required to follow the same protocols as Barton students, staff, and faculty.

In particular they must:

- Self-check before coming to campus. If they are experiencing any symptoms, they must not come to campus.
- Check-in at the appropriate location on campus. Visitors to cultural events check in at the event. Contractors check in with the Facilities Office. All other visitors should check-in with the Admissions Office on the first floor of Harper Hall.
- Wear masks at all times when inside a Barton College building.
- When working outdoors, wear a mask at all times when the visitor cannot practice social distancing. When the visitor can maintain social distancing outside but is still interacting with other people, the College strongly encourages mask use.
